THRIVE: What on Earth Will It Take?

Foster and Kimberly Gamble

In a quest to determine what was keeping humanity from thriving, Foster spent nearly a decade “following the money” in every sector of human endeavor. The process revealed an understanding of our predicament that led him to create the strategic solutions offered in THRIVE. His exploration of “living geometry” – how nature builds the “material” world, came to fruition in 1997 at the Sequoia Symposium.

There, the primary patterning that the universe uses to sustain healthy systems was clarified and cohered, as was its use as a blueprint for us to design sustainable, all-inclusive technologies and social systems. This discovery represents the convergence of science and the evolution of consciousness, and is the “code” that is featured in the documentary film, THRIVE

Foster and Kimberly Gamble will introduce the film by setting a scientific, financial and political context. After the movie has been screened, they will entertain questions and join in discussion with the audience about both the threatening and promising unfoldings in the challenge to bring clean, safe non-combustion power to market.

PRE CONFERENCE ACTIVITY

Thursday Afternoon
Thu Jul 26 • 1PM-3PM

Practical Home Metallurgy

Dr. John V Milewski

Learn how to assay, cupel, melt and smelt your precious metals in a microwave oven at home. Any 600 to 900 watt kitchen microwave will do to illustrate melting and casting metals in a microwave. The gold process takes three to four iterations. The melting is impressive and one can see that the temperatures to get the gold processing going is easily achievable.

For years, black sands were considered useless since the metal content was unobtainable. Microwave processing unlocks the sands metal content... even in the home environment. We will demonstrate each process and reveal what type of processing units are required to perform each type of metal processing. Attendees will observe melting of gold dust into buttons, as well as upgrading placer gold and old jewelry to 95 % plus. All equipment, chemicals and hardware needed will be available for detailed inspection and sales.

POST CONFERENCE ACTIVITY

Sunday Afternoon

GEET Seminar

Daniel Gonzales

The first working prototype was developed long before the technical analysis was attempted. Plasma research is a fairly new field of acceptable science. The technology used in the GEET Fuel Processor is a combination of the most basic scientific principles, most of which falls within the normal rules and of thermodynamics. But some of the 70 simultaneous phenomenon are not found in those books, since it is the combination of events, which is the body of this discovery. Put quite simply, the exhaust heat is transferred to the incoming fuel vapor, which must be maintained in a vacuum, and the overall configuration provides a molecular breakdown within the vacuum of all of the heavier elements. Therefore, intensifying the vacuum, the speed of molecular breakdown or reaction is magnified, and less heat is required.

High gas prices and high pollution levels are a modern plague... and GEET is the solution. Engines running on GEET technology have consistently shown tremendous reductions in emissions. Early efforts for this groundbreaking experimental technology centered on small engines. Now, plans are even available for automobiles.

GEET: New Horizons

Daniel Gonzales

Try to imagine owning the ultimate home production power plant; it heats your water, generates electricity, takes care of heating and air conditioning, by utilizing the waste heat from refrigeration and applying it to storage/hot water, while the generator produces all the electricity you want. This is all possible with the GEET Fuel Processor.

In simple definition, it could be called a new type of carburetor with a miniature refinery built in. With it, there is no need for catalytic converters, smog pumps and many other costly items on cars, as the GEET Fuel Processor is not just a fuel delivery system it is also a pollution elimination unit! Your mileage will be increased if you are consuming ALL available energy, from whatever fuel you may be using.

Paul Pantone, the inventor, was held illegally in Utah's 'Guantanamo of the West' because he refused to hand over his patents. Despite this flagrant attempt at suppression and intellectual theft, Paul is not only carrying on with his work, but is expanding its reach through a network of GEET schools. In addition to covering the basics of the technology, Daniel a certified GEET instructor, will introduce us to this latest initiative to promote the international GEET network... and how to help drive gas prices down using GEET technology!

Unleashing the Rodin Solution

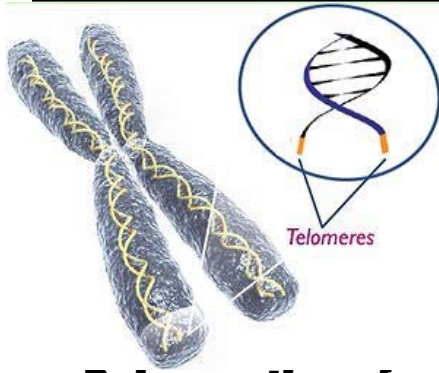

Marko Rodin

I have discovered the source of the non-decaying spin of the electron. - Mark Rodin

Prime Number Symmetry Generation in Rodin Coil Design

Marko Rodin was originally selected in 1988 by Defense Science Magazine to present his findings at Air Space America under the scientific topic of Space Power Propulsion Systems on behalf of the United States government and will be sharing the most recently made advances in Rodin Coil model design and Vortex Based Mathematics technologically for antennae, portable power generation, computer artificial intelligence, 3D speakers, electric cars, and an in depth explanation into how to end all diseases and produce unlimited food crops by harnessing the heretofore undetectable Morphogenetic Field Bio-Aetheric Template contained within DNA and is responsible for all gene expression.

There will also be live demonstrations of various Rodin Coil model designs and applications.

Rejuvenation of Telomeres

Norman Shealy, MD

Our bodies are made up of chromosomes—structures that are essentially long strands of DNA. Chromosomes are responsible for the way we look and all of the processes occurring within the human body. There is a protective wrapper at each end of chromosomes called Telomeres which prevents from getting damaged. Think of a Telomere as the plastic bit at the end of a shoelace that stops your shoelace from fraying. In the same way a Telomere protects the end of the chromosome to protect it from damage.

Our cells divide all the time, and every time our cells divide the Telomere gets shorter and some genetic information maybe lost. Telomeres shrink an average of 1% each year of life. Recent scientific discoveries have shown that Telomere health and specifically their length could hold the key to aging, because scientists have found that chromosomes may stop duplicating if the Telomere becomes too short.

Daily exposure of humans to a Tesla generated field that produces human DNA resonant frequency of 54 to 78 GHz at 75 decibels for 30 to 60 minutes daily leads to 5.6% REGENERATION of telomeres in one year. In a study, 27 of 34 subjects have had average regeneration of 5.9% Furthermore, 30 minute Tesla exposure of tissue cultures of mouse kidney and liver cells has doubled their life expectancy. Telomeres of these tissue culture cells are also growing longer instead of shrinking.

Decrypting Raymond Rife's ExtraOrdinary Technology

Joshua Parker

The story of Rife and his cancer killing frequency machine has passed through so many voices, the true secret of how it actually worked has been lost in confusion. After the success of the 1934 cancer trial at USC where 14 of 16 late stage patients were alleviated of their suffering, history has shown that modern "rife machines" don't provide the results that Dr. Rife and his colleagues achieved in the 1930's. How could Royal Rife's technology work so well back then only to fail in the future?

Here, the untold secret of how Royal Rife's technology worked will be revealed. The machines evolved as vacuum tubes were replaced by transistors and how this affected their output. You'll also learn why a vacuum tube design is actually required in order to fully achieve the unique type of RF signal that Philip Hoyland's 1938 Beam Ray machine generated.

Throughout the last decade, Joshua has worked with Jeff Garff who acquired an original 1938 Beam Ray Corporation Rife Machine. There are hidden working principles behind this machine which Jeff discovered through spectrum analysis. It was discovered that the machine's design allowed its use by doctors' who would never be able to tell what the true working frequencies were. Hiding the frequencies in a complex mathematical relationship between the RF carrier and an audio pulse, Rife's engineer actually protected Rife's intellectual property!

In 1976, Paul Schmidt postulated that the organs of human beings and animals can be activated and stimulated by specific immanent frequency spectra. In accordance with Schmidt's principles, Rayonex developed a line of products to analyze and harmonize the body's metabolic systems as well as to assist in minimizing the influence of toxic environments including those caused by electromagnetic pollution or geological disturbance zones.

For years, Rayonex has performed numerous studies and monitored application to determine the efficacy of their medical devices. The placebo effect (therapeutic success based on imagination), could not be fully excluded in their studies. This shortcoming facilitated the search for a scientifically based method of proving the efficacy of the bioresonance devices produced.

BioResonance According To Paul Schmidt

Recently, the prestigious Fraunhofer Institute in Germany developed a method by which cell complexes can systematically be damaged. If a defined degree of damage exists in a cell complex, it can be assessed whether and to what degree a therapeutic approach is effective. This method alleviates the aforementioned placebo effect.

Utilizing this new methodology, a study of the Rayonex analysis and harmonization system was conducted. As a result, the acceptance of bioresonance according to Paul Schmidt achieved a major milestone.

GyroKinetic Prime Mover

Robert Rohner

This presentation is a primer on the operating principles of a form of “gyrokinetic” engine. During the presentation, the parts involved will be displayed and discussed. A lab test fixture that will demonstrate the power source will be assembled, fueled and operated.

During the process, a hermetically sealed telescoping gas chamber is filled with a relatively inexpensive, abundant, and harmless charge of inert gases. These gases are subjected to controlled electronic pulses radiation effects, and varying magnetic fields to create a powerful expansion. Removal and reversal of the fields causes a contraction leaving the gases ready to cycle again. During this portion of the cycle, electrons are released in sufficient quantity to provide for the power requirements of the opposing cylinder.

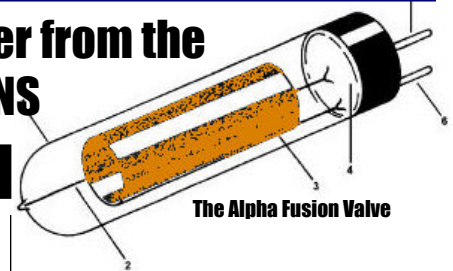

Proof will be presented that the cycle is not thermodynamic and seems to violate these laws. Discussion will be opened regarding where this cyclic energy release is coming from. The gyrokinetic process has its basis in the Papp engines operated in the early eighties. Two such engines were designed and built by Tom and Robert Rohner for Papp. Unfortunately, Papp died without revealing the process. Gyrokinetics is a powerful tool that has been used for many applications in both fusion and astrophysics. As certain aspects of the processes involved have yet to be identified, “gyrokinetic” may not prove to be the final descriptor.

Direct Electrical Power from the Utilization of Earth IONS

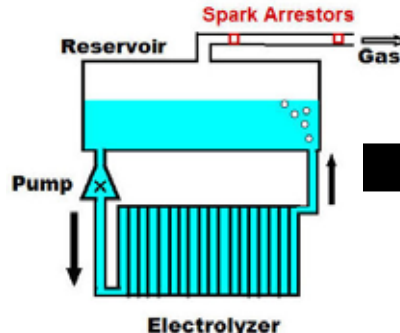

Bruce Perreault

With Minimal Environmental Impact; a unique ion-valve has been designed and constructed by this widely recognized radiant energy researcher. The ion valve provides a dam to the ionic surging of the atmosphere of our planet. If an oscillating tank circuit is used in conjunction with this valve, and it has the correct impedance, reactance and inductance, it will absorb the energy which can be transformed into useful electrical power. The tank oscillations are kept alive by establishing resonance with the surging throughout the Universe. Therefore, energy is not drawn from the transformer that powers the tank circuit.

In the case of the radiant energy receiver, it becomes possible to draw energy into a properly designed electronic circuit with the aid of specially constructed electrical plasma tubes (ion valves). The implication of this energy source is mind boggling. A properly constructed receiver will harness electrical power from the energy of the Sun, the Cosmic Rays and from the natural background radiation of the planet. It is a glorified radiant energy receiver, and one that is designed to receive and convert the oscillations of the Universe which is being generated. The device locks onto the very wheelwork of nature. When properly constructed it should last for many years with very little maintenance, no more than is required for a good radio receiver.

Cavitating the water in Brown’s gas electrolyzers can yield energy gains as well as element transmutation. LeClair has produced abundant transmutation on rolled up, aluminum veneer (with many decorative holes) by subjecting it to cavitating water. When a cavitation bubble collapses near the edge of a hole, it takes a toroidal form and emits a powerful reentrant jet through the toroid’s hole. The tip of the jet exhibits a plasmoid shock front akin to Shoulders’ exotic vacuum object (EVO), which coheres and traps zero-point energy. When the jet strikes a metallic surface, it manifests new elements just like Shoulders’ EVO strikes and Adamenko’s large plasmoid strikes.

Cavitating Electrolyzers: The Key to “Over Unity”

Moray King

LeClair proposes that the reentrant jet takes the form of a novel water crystal consisting of adjacent strands of HOHOHO... sequences, an idea supported by Eckman’s detection of linear water isomers in Brown’s gas. If the linear strands close into a ring, it could be the coherent stabilizing form for a water gas cluster that is the most energetic component of Brown’s gas.

Cavitation can be induced by methods including turbulent flow; various vibrations (mechanical, sonic, ultrasonic); electrical oscillation. The largest effects could be obtained by rapidly circulating cavitating water into the bottom and out the top of the electrolyzer to a reservoir above. Circulating the reservoir water back into the electrolyzer integrates its energy content, converting an average electrolyzer into a practical zero-point energy machine.

Energy Machine of T. Henry Moray

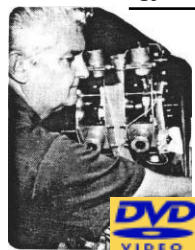

Zero-Point Energy &
Pulsed Plasma Physics

by Moray B. King

In the 1920s Moray invented a "free energy" device that produced 50 kW of electricity. Unexplainable by orthodox science, the electricity exhibited a strange "cold current" characteristic where thin wires could conduct appreciable power without heating. Moray suffered ruthless suppression. In 1939, the device was destroyed. Today, modern physics finally recognizes the vacuum contains tremendous energy called zero-point energy. Other inventors have discovered it is activated by pulsing plasma, and created novel energy devices, but they too were suppressed. The common pattern of these technologies clarified the fundamental operating principle. Free energy that works! Truly an inspiration for engineers and inventors, this is a MUST have book (200pp)

Electric Motor Secrets

Laying dormant within the modern electric motor is a deep, dark secret. For the last 176 years, that secret has held the electric motor to its present level of performance. But in 1975, a quantum leap in electric motor design was made by an American inventor named Bob Teal. Teal's Magnipulsion Engine produced COPs between 8 and 10. Using lab demonstrations, patents, diagrams, and private documents, Dr. Peter Lindemann takes you on an extraordinary trip through the history of electric motors, resurrecting the secret of Magnipulsion, and revealing the future of efficient electric motor design. MUST HAVE DVD! (2hr 26 minutes)

Multiple Facets of Quantum Information

Tesla Waves, Biofields and Aetheric Energy

Lucian M. Ionescu

At a fundamental level only classical and quantum information exists. The “hardware” is partly material and partly subtle: chi meridians and aetheric streams of energy. The “software” is considerably less understood: spirit, soul etc, yet provides a theoretical bridge between science and religion.

What interests everyone is how to produce, accumulate and harvest “good” chi. I will focus on three phenomena, aiming to demonstrate that they have to be different instances of quantum information circuits circulating quantum information:

- 1) Longitudinal MagnetoDielectric Tesla waves,
- 2) Chi balls produced with your own hands (volunteers will be invited to try),
- 3) Toroidal coils producing zero magnetic fields, only a vortex of aetheric energy.

The problem is to be able to detect the quantum information with appropriate, sensitive detectors. A plant attached to an oscilloscope will be used in place of the “sensitives” of baron Karl von Reichenbach, and according to the experiments of Cleave Baxter.

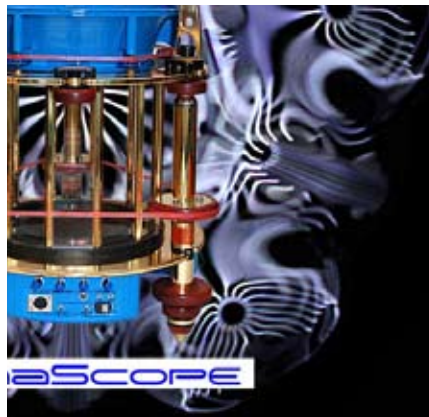

The properties of quantum channels will be demonstrated with “wireless” Tesla communication. The connection with balls of chi generated by humans will be explained. The aetheric vortex of toroidal kit and special properties of Rodin coils will be addressed.

On the Detection of Longitudinal Waves

Dan Davidson

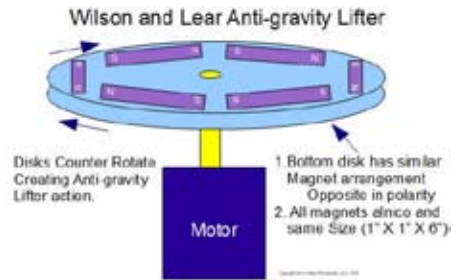

Longitudinal waves are scalar waves. Physics literature refer to scalar waves. Tesla waxed eloquently on longitudinal waves. Tom Bearden popularized the scalar term with his papers on such wild topics as the Tesla howitzer, scalar weapon systems, and biological scalar warfare. But, except for a few exotic experiments such as the Dea-Faretto detector, Meyl’s work, the Hodowanec detector, and some of Bedini’s work there has been little research on detection and measurement of these elusive energy patterns. You can’t buy a longitudinal wave detector – they don’t exist as a commercial product.

In fact, most of orthodox science largely downplay these energy types relegate them to theory. However, when you have an energy type that goes through all matter, then detection with some kind of physical instrument or

The CymaScope, like the invention of the microscope and telescope, opens a realm not previously suspected to exist; in this case a whole new world of visible sound. A scientific instrument, the CymaScope allows researchers the ability to accurately study the structuring effects of individual sounds or the resonant structures of multiple sounds on particulate matter, water and biological systems.

Some of co-inventor John Reid’s recent research includes using the CymaScope to image dolphin ‘picture electromagnetic detector is non-trivial. Current physics theory claims a scalar wave is not in this time space, cannot be detected, but exists everywhere.

Generating longitudinal waves is relatively simple, so the detection of those waves should be simple. The problem resolves into generating a longitudinal wave of the frequency or pattern that one is attempting to detect and then using standard electronics to detect the resultant electromagnetic wave.

We will examine why a longitudinal wave detector is desirable (ie. gravity control?), the types of longitudinal wave detectors that may work and their results and new research in longitudinal wave detector concepts.

words’--seeing what the dolphin sees with its bio-sonar, in collaboration with SpeakDolphin.com, and imaging the sounds of stars in collaboration with the Smithsonian Institute. A study about to commence aims to mathematically model the CymaScope principle.

Sonic Age America was founded in 2005 to develop all aspects of cymatics and the visualization of sound. Every day in the lab, John and Erik see sounds that have never been seen before as they expand the boundaries of a new frontier in research.

Topics covered will include the connections between cymatics, health, science, energy and the evolving field of Resonance Research.

The POLLUTION SOLUTION (FUEL SAVING) REVOLUTION!

GEET, which stands for "Global Environmental Energy Technology" is a perfect immediate solution to pollution and fuel shortage problems, because GEET can be retrofitted to any existing fuel-burning device.

Paul Pantone invented GEET in 1983. Since then Paul has attempted to cooperate with big businesses, but they have all wanted full ownership of the GEET patent so they could shelve the technology and continue to profit at the planet's expense.

Paul took his GEET demo engine and GEET-retrofit Chevy Suburban on the road to 45 states. Conferences like the ExtraOrdinary Technology conference (ETC) and local Media coverage (mostly FOX) let Paul show his accomplishment and discoveries to thousands of people across the U.S.

Paul opened GEET International Institute to teach the plasma/vacuum-involved technology of GEET. Hundreds of students attended from the U.S., Europe, and many other countries. Many students held PhDs. Research and discoveries continued with cooperation from university science labs.

In 1998 Paul Pantone donated, via the internet, the free GEET plans for personal use to humankind. Today thousands of successful GEET retrofits have been built and documented. GEET is being used in city vehicles, farm equipment, generators, boats, jet airplanes...If it burns fuel, GEET can retrofit it, and it has probably already been done.

As we become more aware of the reality and availability of our fueling options, we become empowered to plan for and participate in changes necessary to wean ourselves and our economy off of fossil fuels.

Thank you all for participating with GEET in so many positive and productive ways. This Pollution Solution (fuel saving) Revolution is driven by human power and mind power! With your help, GEET International Institute has been making strides toward Global integration.

Vendor Showcase

Not all of the new and exciting technologies make it on stage. Often, some of the best technologies are out in the expo area. As a new feature, we are allowing the vendors an opportunity to give a 5-10 minute presentation on the products that they have brought to the conference. Since time is limited, this activity will be restricted to the vendors who are not speaking at the conference.

Attendees of the TeslaTech Conference will be able to attend the NPA Lectures at no additional charge. Banquet tickets must be ordered and paid thru the NPA.

TESLATEC or DESERTEC?

Dr. Konstantin Meyl

After the disaster in Japan, nuclear energy has lost its appeal as an energy source. DESERTEC was drafted as an emergency plan to gather all available and natural energy sources, such as the abundant solar energy from the deserts. While our world supplies us with enough energy, it is not where the power is needed. Thus the problem of a comprehensive energy supply is shifting towards an optimal power transport with minimized losses.

This topic was addressed by the famous experimental physicist Nikola Tesla over 100 years ago. Here, electrical transmission systems according to Tesla are compared in terms of efficiency and transport losses (Tesla's three phase AC, high voltage DC, Tesla's single-wire system and the wireless power transmission).

A number of ongoing projects will be reviewed in this multi-faceted presentation beginning with water technology. Water, a dielectric crystal as noted by Dr. Gerald Pollack, has four phases: solid (ice), liquid, gas (steam/HHO) and electric plasma discharge energy (piezo-dielectric crystal). There have been demonstrations of an HHO Torch and explosive power, piezo-electric/plasma discharge. Alternative fuels for charging systems and increasing fuel combustion efficiency in engine performance have also been researched.

Current Rodin coil generator research will be examined. In one example, the Rodin Coil will be used as a pickup to explain Earth's magnetic field of TESLATEC allows the energy gathered by DESERTEC to arrive at the customer without heating the planet electrically. As a further advantage the existing electricity grid needs not to be rebuilt. Another application of wireless transmitted energy would power electric vehicles and reloading batteries while driving.

Currently available and future energy alternatives will be discussed and reviewed in light of the Japanese tragedy. The misleading notion of "renewable energy" has to be avoided, since energy is converted or consumed in the normal sense, but never regenerated.

Practical Rodin Coil Generator Application

energy. When a Rodin Coil is placed in magnetic flux, it creates an electromagnetic potential differential of electricity which can be tapped into.

A different approach to solar energy will be unveiled, instead of traditional silicon based cells, coated metallic cells give rise to the solar battery capacitors. The cells serve as external battery plates and accumulate electrons in a manner similar to Nikola Tesla's "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy" (US Patent 685957). Covering a house with these durable metal plates would generate a significant amount of electrical energy.

The empirical hands-on approach to energy research lends itself to a unique understanding of the nature of elements, electricity, frequency, magnetism and their interactions culminating in the new concept of 'spintronics'!

Global Sciences — Congress —

The Global Sciences organization was founded in 1983 by Dean Stonier to promote the understanding and integration of body, mind and spirit as well as the mysteries surrounding us... UFO's, crop circles, spiritual growth, ascension, alternative healing modalities, suppressed technologies, mind control, shadow government/one-world conspiracies. Eventually this resulted in two national conferences each year, typically Florida in the Winter and Denver in Summer. Dedicated to bringing you the latest information which is crucial during these exciting times here on planet Earth, these congresses were considered the premier events of the alternative world for nearly two decades!

Top 5 Exotic Free Energy Technologies

Sterling D. Allan

We live in an exciting time when some of the exotic free energy technologies we've been following for so many years are finally moving beyond research and development and are actually making major strides toward showing up in the marketplace. Realizing this shift, over the past two years, PES Network, Inc. has shifted its focus from the "Top 100 Clean Energy Technologies" to just the "Top 5 Exotic Free Energy Technologies." In this lecture, the current Top 5 technologies: how they work and where they are at in the process of moving into the market will be discussed.

It is a dynamic listing -- like watching a horse race -- so by the time the conference comes around, the listing may be different than it is today. Bear in mind that for each genre there are several competing groups vying for the distinction of being first to market.

At this time, in first position is Defkalion, the cold fusion company in Greece. They just finished a couple of months of several groups doing independent testing of their reactors, with very positive results. They are licensing the manufacture of a 5-45 kW Hyperion heater technology, and are expecting to have a fully operational prototype ready in July. It might take 6-18 months for the manufacturers to engineer their production line and begin commercial sales of the Hyperion.

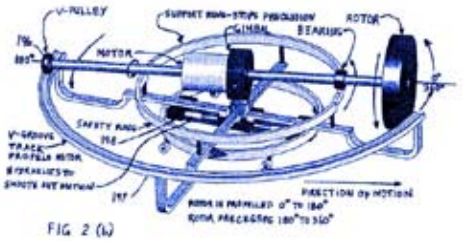

The remaining technologies in the top five are just as intriguing, and revolutionary as the first.

Inertial Propulsion Breakthrough

Harvey Fiala

Two separate processes that do not require a propellant and do not produce an equal and opposite reaction against any external form of matter in the Local Inertial Reference Frame and do not violate Newton's Laws in the Universal Reference Frame can be used to achieve "motion by mass transfer" either vertically or horizontally or what some commonly refer to as "Inertial Propulsion". The first process produces horizontal motion, relies on the earth's gravitational field as an external force, and has been successfully tested. The second process produces vertical motion and relies only on the aether. It has been successfully tested considering the effect of the earth's gravity.

Due to the law of conservation of angular momentum, the first process is normally considered not possible, but with the proper use of an external field (for example, gravity) and the phenomenon of precession, it becomes possible. A clear distinction is made between a simple rotor and a gyroscope which is a far more complex device. Gravity causes the phenomenon of natural precession (precession not using a man-made forcing torque).

It is common knowledge that a spinning precessing rotor has a reduced level of inertia and angular momentum in the direction of precession while it is precessing, although that process is currently not well understood or agreed upon. But, we will demonstrate using a very elementary model that these processes can, and have been achieved.

The wave of the future is Qualar physics, a spiritually-based unified field theory. As an amalgam of quantum mechanics, string theory, scalar physics, consciousness research and esoteric mysticism, it may provide understanding and insights into the underlying framework and dynamics by which primal energy can be accessed from "zero point" for a multitude of applications.

The field of physics today is a flawed, half-theory of the way the multiverse works. For centuries and even millennium science has traditionally struggled under the illusion that it can't mix with spirituality due to rigorous criteria for measurement and verification. The denial that all science is spiritual has seriously hindered development of a wholistic unified field theory.

Qualar Physics: Wave of the Future

An introduction to Qualar physics will correlate aspects of the inner cosmic worlds, harmonic codes, sacred geometry, self-organizing criticality, Y-bias and angularity and concepts of string theory. It draws upon a research pyramid of distinguished scientists, thinkers and spiritual masters to suggest the underlying structure of how the multiverse works. The promise of Qualar physics as a spiritually-based unified field theory may illuminate physics and the worlds of spirit as a continuum of vibratory harmonics.

ORDERING INSTRUCTIONS

This helps us to contact you in the event of a discrepancy or problem. Your privacy and confidentiality will be respected otherwise. It has always been, and always will be, our policy to NOT sell our membership and customer mailing lists.

Send special questions and comments on a separate piece of paper, so that the processing of your order is not slowed down. Although we may not be able to respond to your comments directly, we do welcome them and read every one of them — and often, changes and new books are the result of an inquiry. Technical questions are usually better handled if directed to our magazine, ExtraOrdinary Technology, as a “Letter to the Editor.”

We attempt to keep all books in stock. However, there are occasions when demand outpaces supply. Accounts are credited at the time an order is placed. If a book is out of stock, it will be backordered and sent to you as soon as it arrives. If a book has been discontinued, a refund will be sent immediately.

We try to keep our Shipping and Handling charges as low as possible. The US Postal Service's constant and ever accelerating rate changes have destabilized the shipping market. Currently, in our most recent shipping schedule, we have decided to ship ALL books by bookrate or surface, unless specifically requested otherwise. We are looking into UPS as an option... but they do not deliver to PO Box addresses.

We have a variety of payment options. In addition to accepting the major credit cards shown, we also accept checks, postal money orders, money orders and FRNs (ie. cash in US dollars).

Dissatisfied? If there is a problem with your order, please notify TeslaTech, Inc at (520) 463-1994 immediately.
