Hydrogen-Plasma Integration... Exploring Components of Over Unity Systems

Vernon Roth

Hydrogen on Demand is one of the most viable and readily applicable innovative power technologies today. The synergistic application of mono-atomic Hydrogen and Oxygen, along with recently discovered supercharged water clusters, dynamically improve fuel use as well as completely eliminate toxic emissions. Vacuum-based Plasma technology also has shown itself to be an awe-inspiring system of energy dramatically improving existing power generation. Integrating these two technologies has been a rocky road but an amazing journey.

Integration of HHO and plasma fuels, creates a beautiful and powerful machine that can be reproduced easily and quickly for any stand-alone power application.

Most OU and proverbial Free-Energy devices have consistent elements that allow them to function perpendicular to the laws of Thermodynamics. In this workshop we will cover:

- Elements of Existing Over Unity Devices
- Multi-Stream Plasma Tuning
- Simple Hydrogen Generation Systems
- Advanced, Vacuum Hydrogen Separation
- Electromagnetic Structuring of Plasma

This is a practical workshop for the active extraordinary energy researcher. Workshop attendees will receive plans for easy-to-construct hydrogen cells.

Wednesday Jul 30 - 5PM Harnessing the Wheelwork of Nature

Sterling D Allan

Palladium is a magnetic propulsion engine that powers a generator of continuous electricity. Electric circuit regulates the magnetic fields interaction.

There are many ways to harness the wheelwork of nature -- clean, inexhaustible and ubiquitous energy sources provided free for the taking by the environment. Conventional renewable energy (there are 25 genres) has made great strides but has limitations. We are tracking some exotic modalities (there are 25 of those, as well) -- that science has not yet acknowledged as legitimate -- that are making great strides toward being proven and preparing for marketplace introduction.

We'll look at leading contenders, including:

- Palladium by Platinum Invests
- QMoGen (Motor-Generators) in which a smaller motor powers a larger generator, which loops back to keep the motor running while providing copious excess power, most likely due to some kind of resonance set up with the surroundings;
- Earth-electron captor by Brazil's Evolucoes Energia;
- E-Cat by Andrea Rossi's, based on a safe nuclear reaction (LENR) process involving hydrogen and nickel.

Original Garage Lab, Open Source
Alternative Energy Research

What does it take to be an open source garage lab energy researcher? ... Dedication and a lot of resourcefulness!

The greatest inventions of the modern age started in someone's garage or basement. Apple, HP, Google, Maglite... even Disney were born in someone's garage. The capability to do good basic research is not dependent on cash flow to the dedicated researcher. An insatiable thirst for knowledge, and a limited budget has honed this inventor's ability to build things using inexpensive, readily-available, or scrounged parts. This is a great chance to pickup pointers on how to stretch your research budget with used or improvised parts. Recycling materials allows you to save for equipment and materials that cannot be salvaged.

RWGresearch was created to help Russ promote his work share his results and work as a team with his subscribers. Russ will show many of the gadgets he has created using this open source research platform and the live open science idea. His research includes Papp engines, 3D printers, levitators, Rodin coils, Meyers water engine, and more!

Thursday Jul 31 - 6PM Practical Power from Tap Water!

Arthur Burke Miller

Using a 10HP GenSet similar to this conventional generator, G&G Power Systems demonstrated radical new water power technology!

A form of electrolysis that uses vibrations and high potential, low current DC electronic circuitry to split water produces a new series of gases not yet fully defined. These gases produce pits in the stainless steel plates similar to the damage done to propellers by cavitation bubbles. The bubbles form a torus and collapse creating a Le Clare effect water crystal or a plasmoid Exotic Vacuum Object. All of the energy of the collapsing bubble is concentrated into a re-entrant jet. The extreme pressure in the jet creates a new solid-state of water, a water crystal with a plasma bow shock wave which draws in ZPE! The water crystals can form small rings, trapping the energy in a metastable torus form.

Cycling the water repeatedly through the electrolyser integrates it's energy content, producing an ever increasing energy level. With water which is sufficiently charged, spraying it as a mist into the carburettor of an engine can give the illusion that water is a fuel!

Saturday Aug 2 - 6PM Advanced Brown's Gas (HHO) Electrolyzer

George Wiseman

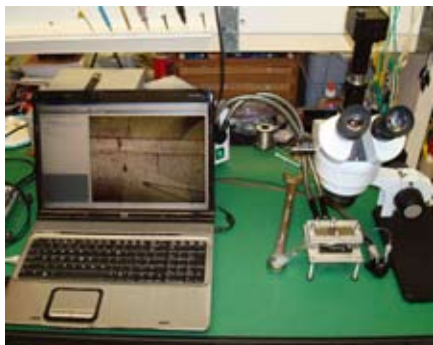

Learn how to build your own over-unity
BG generator from a true pioneer!

Significant changes in electrolyzer design have resulted in working machines that demonstrate over 100% OU (over-unity) energy output when using Faraday and Thermodynamic Laws. These technology upgrades, independently tested and verified, will revolutionize the entire Brown's Gas Genre. Any electrolyzer not incorporating these changes will be left in the dustbin of history.

The BG production alone is OU which I will demonstrate with an actual device, with comprehensive energy in vs. energy out measurements and calculations including heat produced by the electrolyzers. I will explain my theory of Electrically Expanded Water (ExW) ; which is how I theorize the 'extra' gas volume is formed. Each design improvements and why it works will be highlighted. Some variations that did not work will be examined with commentary on details to watch for.

This is a professional presentation for serious Brown Gas researchers of all levels. Anyone viewing the presentation could duplicate both the electrolyzers and verifying tests.

Beyond the 'Memory' of Water... Latest Discoveries

Beverly Rubik PhD

Water, despite its simple chemical formula as H_2O , is not simple. Nor is it a passive substance in living things. The new science of water shows that it is a complex, sensitive, and responsive liquid with memory, life-like in itself. Water is the most important active element of the living state. The molecules of life—DNA, enzymes, etc., in living cells “dance” to the “tune” of water. Water near a charged membrane forms an “exclusion zone”—a unique type of structured water that excludes dissolved substances and suspended particles. Exclusion zone water is ultrapure and very different in structure from ordinary liquid water.

The memory of water will be elaborated upon in this presentation. Water has been demonstrated to have an extraordinary ability to sense, store, and transmit information vital to life. Information contained in a specific DNA sequence can be transferred across short distances—wirelessly—to pure water in a closed container using a carrier electromagnetic field.

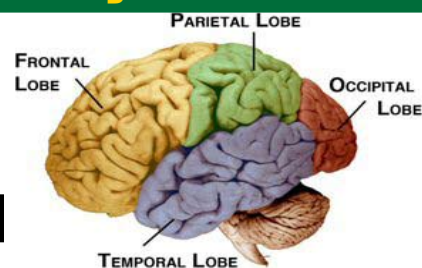

Water is responsive to human intention. This explains how blessed water is historically linked to miraculous healings. After being imbued with intention and/or subtle energies from energy healing, waters show measurable changes when photographed using the GDV camera, a form of high voltage electrophotographic technology similar to Kirlian photography.

Keeping Your Brain Strong In This Toxic World

Rozanne Bazinet, PhD

For brain health, one must be vigilant in today's world to keep their focus on systems that will keep the brain functioning and vibrant going into old age. The key is recognizing and addressing all of the factors that cause the brain to breakdown. In today's world, these hazards include pollutants, our modern processed food supply, chronic dehydration, bad choices on medical care, lifestyle issues, and more. A well-grounded plan for increasing your chances of having a fully alive and well functioning brain into old age will be presented.

Dr. Bazinet describes her own journey back from serious illness. Having caught amoebic dysentery while on a trip to India, she was faced with figuring out how to get well. She took the necessary medicines and only got worse until she was exhausted all the time and was beginning to lose brain functions like her memory. She was in chronic pain, had neuropathy in fingers and toes, problems sleeping, gastrointestinal problems, skin problems, and balance problems. She became very allergic to mold, perfumes and any personal care products with odors and eventually had to design a new way of life to deal with all that.

Seeing all the right professionals still did not return her complete health. She had to take total responsibility for figuring it out. This is what she did. She will describe how you can accomplish the same results with the right plan knowing all the factors to deal with.

Since the 1950s, scientists have known that the Earth and the human body naturally resonate at the Schumann Resonance 7.83 Hz. Areas of the body exhibiting pain and/or inflammation (or imbalance in other ways), no longer vibrate at this frequency. CAMS technology re-establishes the body's normal frequency patterns and balances the bio-energetic field. This is crucial for the resolution of pain and for the return to health.

More recent research has identified the resonance of normal, healthy chromosomes. These frequencies have been shown to stimulate regeneration and re-growth of telomeres. They can be delivered via CAMS technology for a wide range of anti-aging benefits.

CAMS technology uses solid state quartz technology to change light and electrical input to scalar output. When directed towards the human body with intention, it re-establishes the body's normal frequency patterns and balances the bio-energetic field. The reduction of inflammation can be monitored in real time using standard ultrasound scanning and medical thermography. The re-growth of telomeres can be verified using modern telomere testing.

The presentation reviews the science and the efficacy of CAMS technology for rapid, non-invasive resolution of a variety of symptoms. Case studies reveal unprecedented telomere re-growth and other indicators of anti-aging.

Electric Universe Theory, Tesla's Space Energy, & A New Galactic Model

Harry Jabs

Planets and stars remain relatively stable in their orbits, although it is unclear how the laws of gravity alone explain this, because gravity is only an attractive force. Orbits of man-made satellites around Earth must be periodically corrected by firing thrusters because their orbits are unstable. Indeed, in order to retain our present concept of gravitation, conventional science proposed that over 80% of the mass of the universe consists of dark matter. Although dark matter cannot be directly observed, it is now thought to be the "glue" of the cosmos.

By contrast, the Electric Universe theory proposes that the heavenly bodies are electrically charged, either positively or negatively. Since electrical forces can be attractive or repulsive, a stable orbit is achieved. Using electrostatic calculations a model of cosmic bodies based on electrostatic potential wells is presented and compared to astronomical observations. We propose that Electric Universe concepts may be related to Tesla's research on harnessing energy from space.

Lastly, a new model of our Milky Way is presented in which a super-massive object at the center of our galaxy is a matter-to-energy converter that bathes all celestial bodies in the galactic plane in a vast neutrino flux. The more massive a body is, the more neutrinos it absorbs and converts to heat.

Zero Point Energy... The Driving Power of Magnets

Dr. Thorsten Ludwig

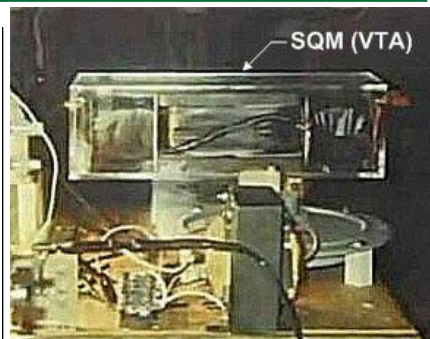

New physics shows that the quantum energy of space, zero point energy, is the power that leads to and sustains magnets. The energy exchange with the vacuum background photons, electrons and positrons account for the magnetic moment of the electron. Permanent Magnets are a collective effect of these magnets moment of the electrons in the material.

New magnet research on magnets, especially in the context of the Coler generators and Coler magnetic current device will be presented. An update will be given on the Coler current apparatus that was built. One feature of Coler's device is that the electric current is passed through a magnetized ferromagnetic magnet. An extraordinary current was found and studied.

An update on the experiment of the author and the team of the applied consciousness institute that studies the mental influence on a single electron in a magnetic field will be presented. An important quantum calculation will be presented that show possible energy influence of intention on the zero point energy and how that can be converted into a force and into an energy device. This sheds new light on the inventor effect with devices that only work when the inventor is present.

Finally, new information on Tesla's car will be revealed. Heinrich Jebens met with Tesla on November 26, 1930. Official documents contain details of the meeting and a description of the space energy generator that Tesla build into his car and about to test drive.

Revealing the Secrets of FREE Energy & Overunity Technology

William Alek

In the late 1980's, an amazing FREE Energy/Overunity device was demonstrated by retired MIT Electrical Engineer graduate and inventor, Floyd "Sparky" Sweet. It was called the Space Quanta Modulator (SQM) and later known as the Vacuum Triode Amplifier (VTA) by energy researcher, Tom Bearden. According to Tom Bearden's research, Gabriel Kron, the inventor of the Negative Resistor, mentored Floyd Sweet. Floyd worked with Gabriel at the same company, and knew the secret behind the Negative Resistor.

Floyd demonstrated his SQM device produced in excess of 5,000 Watts of electric power from the Dirac Sea of Negative Energy (Dark Energy) with as little as $10 V_{rms}$ at $1 mA_{rms}$ (10 mW) of electric excitation at 60 Hz. The device had an incredible power gain or Coefficient Of Performance (COP) greater than 500,000! This translates to an astonishing electrical efficiency of over 50,000,000%. This device is no doubt the ultimate FREE Energy device ever created by man – without question!

Since that time, attempts have been made to replicate Floyd Sweet's breakthrough device, but without success until now. Energy researcher and developer of the SmartPAK Overunity Energy Management System, William Alek will reveal and demonstrate the fundamental operating principles behind the Space Quanta Modulator.

The Toroidal Magneto-Static Generator

Ing. Luca Piergentili

The Toroidal Magneto-Static Generator (TMSG) conceived under the principles of the SEG and Rodin Coil represents a new generation of more efficient electrical devices. It is a linear induction motor that works under the same principles of a brushless electric motor. Circular with broadly the same geometry of a Searl Effect Generator (SEG), it differs by using only one ring instead of three. The TMSG is enclosed in a starship Rodin Coil that functions as a magnetic prime mover of cylindrical capacitor-rollers rotating around a fixed stator ring free of mechanical wear or friction. The stator and rollers are made of neodymium pole patterns, plastic (PVC), copper, brass, toroidal inductors, capacitors and diodes. Both stator and rollers have a neodymium magnetic field layer orthogonal to the electric field of the capacitor-rollers.

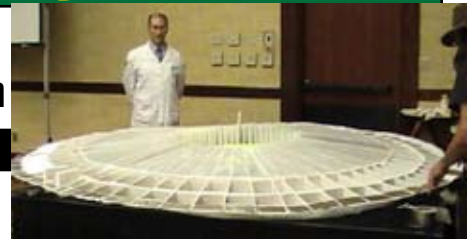

The capacitor-rollers' rotation creates a cycloid pattern inside the torus and around the stator. Each roller induce eddy currents with radial electrical potentials. As the capacitor-rollers reach the critical speed to initiate resonant frequencies, the generated electrostatic field is maximum, the rotational motion is in equilibrium and the electrical current inflow is at minimum. At the center of the torus the electromagnetic field has its maximum power, equalling the input power (at minimum) plus the induction of the rollers in motion (at resonant frequency).

Searl Anti-Gravity... Electromagnetic Propulsion

Russell Anderson

Well known for research in Electro-gravitic systems – Russell has been building and flying Biefeld-Brown Effect “beamships” for years, and built a working replication of TT Brown’s rotating disk experiment back in the 1980’s, but his real passion has always been for the Searl Effect Generator and the Searl IGV – also dubbed the “Levity Disk”.

As a student of John Searl, Anderson schooled himself on the principles behind the SEG and IGV, and describes the operation of the Searl Effect Generator in detail while providing astute comparisons to both linear motors and other reported antigravity devices. Anderson’s expertise is not just in understanding what makes the Searl Effect Generator operate, but in understanding how it compares to similar devices in its class. Anderson’s expertise in SEG theory and design have led to manufacturing improvements that allow the Searl Effect Generator to be constructed by a machining process from the Neodymium metal, rather than the sintering process originally pioneered by Searl himself. Anderson describes recalculating the “Law of the Squares” to accommodate for Nd-Nickel alloy that he introduced to make this possible, and describes his excitement at this modification becoming a standard part of the Searl Effect Generator manufacturing process.

This presentation should leave no doubt in anyone’s mind that electrogravitic propulsion is real... and achievable with today’s technology!

Gravity Shielding with the Key Ring Atom

Have you ever wondered how the ancient world moved massive stones weighing many tons over extremely long distances?

Dannel Roberts

Have you ever wondered how UFOs that fly at thousands of miles an hour stop instantly and change directions? Both questions may have the same answer related to stopping the flow of gravity and inertia. This seminar will give you a theory of how this all works at the particle level.

Gravitational shielding refers to the hypothetical process of shielding an object from the influence of a gravitational field. If such processes existed, they would have the effect of reducing the weight of an object. Gravity Cloaking would stop the effects of both gravity and inertia. I don’t believe it is theoretical or hypothetical, but that it has been done for thousands of years.

To understand gravity cloaking, you need an understanding of gravity and inertia. When Issac Newton discovered gravity, he called it a natural attraction objects have for one another. There were two ideas for that natural attraction, gravity is a force that pulls or gravity is a particle that pushes. We will be discussing gravity as a push.

So, for gravity to be a particle that pushes, an atom would have to have gravity particles going to it and through it. If you stop the flow of gravity, you would stop the effects of gravity. A device that stops this flow would be called a gravity cloaking device.

Our new atomic model (the key ring atom) allows us to demonstrate how to stop the flow of gravity through the key ring atom. While I believe there are many ways to do gravity cloaking, but we will only be discussing two!

Thermodynamics for the Experimenter

Measuring Hi-Efficiency Device Performance

Thad Mauney, PhD

Promising ultra-high-performance or new-energy devices are routinely dismissed by physicists and engineers because the performance claims do not make sense in conventional thermodynamic terms. Therefore, we will review some basic principles of thermodynamics, including the “Three Premises,” relevant to the new-energy experimenter and in particular look at where and how they apply, and where they potentially might not.

Look at the science of measurement making. The experimenter can often use inexpensive equipment like string, pulleys, water, thermometers, and clocks, to test the performance of innovative systems and report their input, output, efficiency, and “coefficient of performance.” Experimental results expressed in units that can be understood and validated by other experimenters, they not so vulnerable to dispute.

We need to know how to measure some novel phenomenon, how to evaluate the quality (precision and accuracy) of the measurement, and how well we know we have measured what we intended to measure. With these questions in mind, we will explore how to apply measurements to novel systems in the most relevant and reliable ways.

GEET: The Evolution of Plasma Physics

Kelvin Rigg, Sr

Plasma, the fourth state of matter, is a relatively new field of study whose boundaries are being expanded by studies made possible by the GEET engine technology invented by Paul Pantone. GEET is based on a self-generated low temperature plasma field. Since the advent of GEET devices, Paul has discovered 181 new phenomena.

There are at least eight “Unidentified Fields of Energy” around the GEET that have been observed. The lack of a common terminology and methodology makes it difficult to validate and replicate new discoveries. Here are a couple of fundamental observations that are being studied.

When trying to locate where the Reactor Rod is positioned while running, one uses a hand held digital thermometer. When the Thermometer reads it is the hottest, this indicates the center of the Reactor Rod. This is a false reading. Even though the Thermometer indicates a hot spot, it is not the hottest spot. However, something “inside” the reaction chamber is causing the false reading that allows us to determine that the Rod is at that exact location.

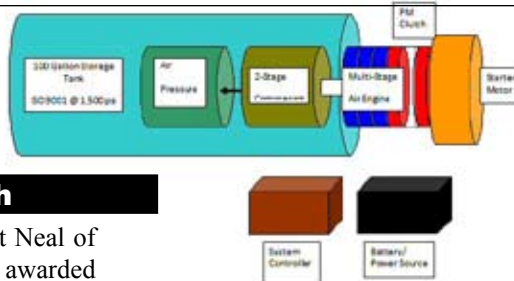

Another strange observation is the “Auric Field”. Once a Reactor Rod is used for thirty minutes it holds a signature to indicate if the fuel was matched to the Reactor Rod for maximum efficiency. One of the tests to validate the correct length, is by using a compass. When the Rod is “broke in” the compass will show it has a North and South. Maybe it does, or could be it really doesn’t?

Nova Neal Compression Engine

David Yurth

On February 11, 1936 Robert Neal of Arkadelphia, Arkansas, was awarded US Patent Number 002030759, entitled Compressor Unit. The patent described an engine that operates with pressure equalization in a tank which becomes balanced and self-sustaining, producing enough pressurized air to keep the engine running in a way that enables it to power other ‘additional equipment’ at the same time.

Neal’s original patent application was denied because the USPTO had long since adopted a policy which forbade the issuance of patents for what is referred to as ‘perpetual motion machines.’ Neal’s patent was eventually issued, however, because he transported a version of his device to the patent office in Washington, DC, and demonstrated to the Commissioner of Patents that it worked.

According to news reports issued at the time, shortly after he demonstrated this engine and was issued a patent, his daughter was kidnapped by agents of the Third Reich. They demanded he surrender his designs for the engine in exchange for her release. At the behest of the US Government and with the interdiction of the FBI, Neal arranged to have his daughter released in exchange for a promise to dismantle his engine and scatter the parts so another such device could not be replicated.

Since Neal dismantled his engine in 1938, no one has succeeded in replicating it. The design developed at Nova Institute of Technology accomplishes this objective by combining several fundamental concepts and components into a single operating system.

The Nature and Dynamics of Vibration

Dale Pond

This presentation begins the explanation of the nature, structure and dynamics (wave function or state) of periodic vibratory motion with its interchanging polar dynamics. Included in this description of polar dynamics are the structure and dynamics of toroids which are a special embodiment of causative vibratory (periodic) dynamics. This expose reveals several fundamental concepts substantially different from conventional understandings of vibration, polarization, and dynamics of these states and their wave functions.

Years of study has found that these points are not only essential to understanding non-classical or Spiritual (Scalar) Physics of Mind but also more detailed and accurate conceptualizations of the roles these factors play in all forms of periodic motions as well as matter and force manifestations.

These subtle structures, dynamics and interchanging polar states are all mentioned in the Keely, Russell and Tesla materials especially concerning the enigmatic 3, 6 and 9 proportions of causative forces or states. According to Keely, poles of a current are effects of subtler forces (scalar), three in number. Control them... and you are enabled to control matter and force

Vibration, Energy, and Water Raising Water's Vibration with Sound and the Spiral Vortex

Ralph Suddath

Pouring more and more chemicals into our water sources in an effort to purify our water is no longer an intelligent solution. A new discovery has been made on how to solve our water treatment problem without the use of toxic chemicals. A completely new method that introduces sound frequencies into rapidly spinning water vortices naturally clarifies water and prevents bad bacteria from growing., and costs only a fraction of what our traditional water treatment methods cost. The understanding and development of this new method of water treatment could eliminate up to 80% of the harmful chemicals currently in use in today's agricultural centers and water treatment facilities and untold benefits to our natural environment.

Years of research and development went into the original Aqua Jewel—a state of the art water conditioning system. Its development is the culmination of an integrative approach which combines the vortex of Schauburger's research, water's interactions with magnetism, and the ability to impress an EMF field on water.

Extensive recent research and development has led to a new and improved water conditioner which will be demonstrated. Now, you can have water from your tap the way nature meant it to be. After all, water is one of the most important resources on this planet!

Warren and Ed Skilling in collaboration with Doctors, Practitioners, and Healers in over 42 Countries, engineered Instruments that “noticeably” improve cells, tissues, organs, and systems of the body. Ed Skilling said: “The only known “cure” for anything is your own God-given immune system. All we did is figure out how to communicate with it and power it up.”

In 2007 Warren, diagnosed with Stage 4 Prostate and Bladder Cancer (inoperable), was given less than 6 months to live. His terminal diagnosis marked the beginning of an intensely desperate worldwide search for “what actually works” in an attempt to save his life.

Warren spent over One Million Dollars in four years going to multiple countries. With this intense research and his first-hand experience consulting Doctors and their most advanced catastrophically ill patients for the past 18 years, he was able to take the Skilling Institute Technologies to the “next level” by developing the most dynamic Energy Instruments in history (the Photon Genie and Photon Genius).

Photon Genius utilizes a dozen energy technologies targeting cells, tissues, organs, and body systems at the “cause” level of dysfunction and disease to make the body the best it can be!

Successful frontier energy inventors have an underlying commonality: their inventions feature a plasma discharge often taking the form of a vortex, vortex ring plasmoid, or ball lightning. Ken Shoulders dedicated his life to studying a micron size form of these entities, which he called EVOs (exotic vacuum object) when he was convinced they cohered the zero-point vacuum energy. Present at the tip of every electrical discharge, Shoulders showed they contain excessive energy yielding a “cold current” electric pulse when they strike a conductor.

Understanding Energy Anomalies with the Reciprocal System

Rainer Huck, PhD

Dewey B. Larson (1898-1990) was an American engineer and the originator of the Reciprocal System of Theory, a comprehensive framework capable of explaining all physical phenomena from subatomic particles to galactic clusters. Larson's Reciprocal System of Physical Theory first published in 1959 offers the best available pathway to understanding energy anomalies.

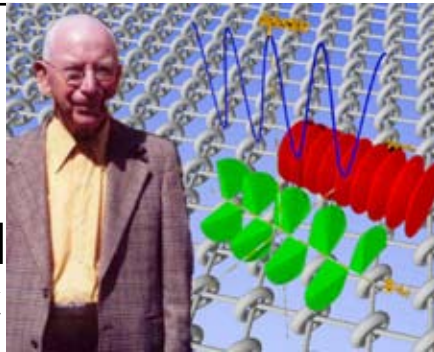

This axiomatic deductive theory based on the concept that motion, as ratio of space to time, is the primal entity of the physical universe instead of matter. It has stood the test of time, predicting unknown phenomena and solving long standing scientific mysteries, defining the complete nature of space, time, energy, and matter. This reduces

They exhibit anomalous force and self-acceleration, propelling any matter contained within. They even can produce element transmutation. Many successful inventors have unwittingly created EVO's in their devices.

EVO's are easy to make: Create glow plasma (corona) in a hollow cathode and then impress an abrupt, unipolar, high voltage pulse. They can even be made from water: Impress high voltage electrostatic pulsing on turbulent, sputtering or cavitating water to yield a cool, electrically charged fog. The fog particles become EVO's when subject to a capacitor discharge. If the discharge occurs within the cylinder of an internal combustion engine, the EVO excessive force will propel the piston. This explains how inventors made self-running gensets or cars that seem to “run on water.”

the researcher's task to understanding the many and often complex relationships between the finite set of known elements. In this way, Larson's perspective of a universe of motion offers novel insights that lead to new and productive approaches for inventors.

The application of this theory to various energy anomalies such as Brown's gas, the radiant energy of Tesla and Moray, and zero point energy, will provide the researcher specific guidance in designing experiments to demonstrate with efficiency and repeatability many of the tantalizing effects that have sporadically shown anomalies.

Vendor Showcase

Not all of the new and exciting technologies make it on stage. Often, some of the best technologies are out in the expo area. As a new feature, we are allowing the vendors an opportunity to give a 5-10 minute presentation on the products that they have brought to the conference. Since time is limited, this activity will be restricted to the vendors who are not speaking at the conference.

CONCURRENT CONFERENCE

New Science for a New World

World Science Conference

Wednesday-Saturday

Jul 30 — Aug 2

The WSO is devoted to broad-ranging, open-minded criticism of the often irrational and unrealistic doctrines of modern physics and cosmology; and to the ultimate replacement of these doctrines by ideas developed with respect for evidence, logic, and objectivity. Such reforms are urgently needed.

WSO-01 is being held side by side, but separate from TeslaTech's Extraordinary Technology Conference 2014. The conference will include four days of talks, four days of public displays, and the Awards Baquet to honor the best of scientists in the dissident world.

Attendees of the TeslaTech Conference will be able to attend the WSO Lectures at no additional charge. Banquet must be ordered and paid thru the WSPO.

The best way to predict the future is to invent it.

Aether Gravity

Michael Twichell

The existence of the aether was sadly dismissed when the Michelson-Morely Experiments failed (as well as all other experiments like them). Einstein stuck a fork in the idea of the aether and proclaimed it “done” with his equations. Ever since then, scientists have been squandering their time working with a useless empty space model.

In this presentation, I describe how aether makes gravity work. Matter objects “absorb” aether and in doing so they create gravity. The Michelson-Morely experiments failed because the aether moves “with” the spinning Earth from west to east, with the only relative motion being down as the aether gets sucked into the Earth (as shown by the Pound-Rebka experiments).

My simple theory expands to explain many gravity related phenomena (just a few of which are listed below):

- Aether whirlpools are nested – planet/star/galaxy
- Aether pressure flattens Saturn’s rings, solar systems and spiral galaxies
- Aether pressure variation can be used to create anti-gravity
- Aether density variation and Snell’s Law describe Gravitational Lensing
- Aether density variation easily explains the Pioneer Anomaly
- Aether density variation easily explains Black Holes
- Aether whirlpool variation easily explains the Coriolis Effect
- Aether whirlpool variation easily explains Plate Tectonics
- Aether creates magnetism and electricity with vortices
- Aether drives the inner/outer core mechanism of the Earth
- Aether can easily explain all the smoking guns of Special and General Relativity

The Nature of Zero Point Energy!

John V Milewski PhD

The existence of ‘Zero Point Energy’ is gaining recognition, however at this point it remains relatively undefined. For years, many scientists have been saying that yes, there is an energy out there, that we live in a “Sea of Energy”, but they still do not know what it really is, so we can work with it. It is difficult, elusive, hard to detect and capture. This presentation defines this energy so we can capture and work with it.

When the temperature is reduced to absolute zero there is still a very large amount of energy left in matter or space (vacuum). That energy is defined as Zero Point Energy. An important insight is that it is mostly magnetic in nature, of extremely high frequency and extremely high velocity and that’s one of the reasons we have not detected it. Most of the energy we use now is electrical in nature and our tools for working with it are specifically designed to detect electric energy, in its many forms.

The new energy (Superlight) is magnetic in nature and in its radiation form is magnetoelectric in nature. This ME energy, first defined by Tiller, travels at more than 10 billion times the speed of light. These ME waves generated in the core of large galaxies are magnetic, torsional, and longitudinal in nature. We are not now equipped to easily detect, measure, or capture it... yet!

Recent science and archeological discoveries suggest our planetary history is not necessarily what is written in textbooks. It is now evident that free energy technologies were known and utilized much longer than 10,000 years ago. Vedic texts such as the Rig Veda and Bhagavad Gita contain scientific discourses known by Tesla that show ancient Indus Valley people possessed extensive knowledge of science and physics. They understood principles of anti-gravity as the texts describe Vimanas or flying machines and were also knowledgeable about particle physics. Interestingly, little is known today about the use of lotus flower or Vedic mathematics.

Ancient Technology: Rediscovering ZPE

Suzanne Price

Only a handful of language scholars like the late physicist and microbiologist, George Merkl, are able to decipher the ancient cuneiform tablets of Sumeria and Mesopotamia. Translated texts reveal Sumerians possessed sophisticated knowledge of science and a keen understanding of how energy works.

Pre-dynastic Egyptian culture intrigues archaeologists, especially their age and construction. Could the Egyptian Djed Pillar be a version of the Tesla coil? Consider how a working mini-scale model by John Cadman demonstrates the large cavitation chamber carved out under the Great Khufu Pyramid system was built to produce hydrogen and generate other types of power. The complex has been compared to Tesla’s Wardencllyffe Tower. Some investigators further suggest pyramids reveal ancient codes from the forgotten past.
